

As the Marketing Director of Wyższa Szkoła Biznesu – National Louis University in Nowy Sącz, I had the pleasure of collaborating with Mr. Wiktor Jeleń during the "Researchers' Night 2020" event. This letter serves as official confirmation of his technical proficiency and exceptional interpersonal skills within the IT technology sector.

During the event, Wiktor served as an expert and speaker in the operating systems zone. His work was a key technological component of the event, and his most significant achievements included:

- Practical demonstration of the Linux ecosystem (Server & Desktop): Wiktor successfully configured and demonstrated the operation of Linux systems, showcasing proficiency in both graphical user interface management and advanced command-line interface (CLI) operations.
- Technology adaptation for non-technical users: Wiktor's greatest asset proved to be his ability to translate hermetic IT language into concepts understandable to laypeople. He conducted interactive demonstrations dedicated to children and youth, explaining the principles of open-source software and system structures in an accessible and engaging manner.
- Implementation of solutions in a "Live" environment: Wiktor was responsible for the stability of the presented server solutions throughout the multi-hour event. He demonstrated the ability to rapidly resolve technical issues under time pressure (Troubleshooting).
- Promotion of Open-Source solutions: Leveraging his substantive knowledge, Wiktor effectively debunked myths regarding the difficulty of using Linux, presenting it as a secure and efficient alternative to commercial systems.

Mr. Wiktor Jeleń's performance during the Researchers' Night 2020 proved that he possesses not only hard engineering knowledge but also a rare skill for technical communication. These traits make him an ideal candidate for positions requiring both technical competence and the ability to work with clients or teams.
